Subject: Willamette cleanup

From local TV coverage and newspaper articles (namely today's Natasha Rausch) all of this Willamette cleanup information is leaving out a large important piece. The process of the cleanup: the cost, the where (ten miles of river), the how, who's involved, the politics, the proposed dates....and the "disposal" word always comes up. But...no one is saying where and how the "disposal" will be done?? I would think that the people of Portland and all of the environmentally-friendly PNW would be very much interested in that plan?
